

Policy Statement

Blockjournal

10.03.2019

1. Hackathon

This platform is a temporary proof of concept for CBHACK.

2. Intellectual property

Uploads are protected by Patents Act 1977 and the Copyright, Designs and Patents Act 1988 for uploader's ownership on the journals.

3. Fee model

Uploader could decide whether or not to charge the reader for the access of the journal. The transaction can be made via Bitcoin and Ethereum, with real-time prices supported by LUNO.

4. Data hosting

The ownership of the data is not by this platform, but by the blockchain network. We have no influence on the content or persistent of the data. See here for github information on BSV system and here for the MIT Open Source license.

5. Illegal content

Illegal content is defined as content that violates local or British law. Any such content will be subject to local jurisdiction and sanction, with the possibility of criminal charge. We take no responsibility on such content, but as a general reminder, we warn the users to be aware of local and British law when using our platform. See NCSC for further information from the British government.